Practice Overview

“One of the real all-round talents at the Bar, he is an adaptable practitioner with a very strong profile”
(Legal 500 UK Bar 2021)

Charles Banner QC was called to the Bar of England & Wales in 2004 and to the Bar of Northern Ireland in 2010. He was appointed Queen's Counsel in 2019 (at the age of 38, the youngest of the 2019 silks). He practices across both jurisdictions as well as internationally. He has rights of audience in the Dubai International Finance Centre Court (Part II Registered since 2015) and the Singapore International Commercial Court (Full Registered Foreign Lawyer since 2017). He sits judicially on a part-time basis as a Justice of the Astana International Finance Centre Court in Nur-Sultan, Kazakhstan.

He has a heavyweight domestic and international practice, principally focused on (i) planning & environmental regulation, (ii) public procurement, competition & state aid and (iii) commercial dispute resolution in the context of development, infrastructure and construction (particularly in the energy, transport, residential and tourism sectors). He also has considerable experience of public law, EU law and commercial dispute resolution more generally.

The breadth of his practice means he is unusually well placed to assist clients in the development & infrastructure sectors over the lifetime of their project, from environmental and planning consenting, to public procurement, regulatory and project finance issues, to commercial disputes arising during or after the construction of the project.

He is recommended as a leading QC in a total of 8 practice areas by Chambers & Partners and Legal 500. He is also ranked as one of Great Britain's Top 4 planning QCs in the 2021 edition of Planning Magazine's annual Planning Legal Survey. The comments about him in these publications include: “very versatile”, “an exceptional commercial barrister”, and “one of the best court advocates I’ve seen”.

His advocacy experience includes over 150 reported cases, including 17 appeals in the UK Supreme Court (making him one of the top 10 currently practising barristers by number of appearances in the Supreme Court since its opening in 2009). He has appeared in 13 cases before the EU Courts (Court of Justice and General Court), 9 cases before the UNECE Aarhus Convention Compliance Committee, 4 cases before the European Court of Human Rights as well as UK Parliamentary Select Committee hearings. He has also appeared in well over 100 planning and environmental inquiries/examinations.

From 2015 until taking silk in 2019, he was a member of the Attorney General’s A Panel of Junior Counsel to the Crown, in which capacity he represented the UK Government in some of its most challenging and high profile cases in the domestic courts and internationally.

He also acts as a dispute resolver. In addition to his part-time judicial work, he accepts instructions as an Arbitrator (FCIArb & FHKI Arb), Mediator (ADR Group Accredited) and Expert.

He is the creator and co-presenter of the high profile cross-chambers planning themed weekly discussion show, ‘Have We Got Planning News For You’, which has had over 100,000 views and was nominated for ‘Best Use of Social Media’ at the Legal Cheek Awards 2021.

Alongside his private practice at the Bar, Charles has held the following non-executive board positions:

- Independent Member, Joint Nature Conservation Committee (the statutory UK nature conservation advisory body), 2017-present. Appointed by the Secretary of State for the Environment.
- Independent Member of the Global Standards and Regulation Board of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (the global professional self-regulatory body for over 110,000 chartered surveyors and 10,000 firms worldwide), 2020-present. Previously an Independent Member of RICS’ UK and Ireland Regulatory Sub-Board, 2018-2020.
- UK Member, European Union Fundamental Rights Agency Management Board, 2017-2020. Appointed by the UK Secretary of State for Justice.

He is an elected Committee Member of the Planning and Environment Bar Association (since 2020). He has also been a Council Member and Trustee of the UK Environmental Law Association (2016-2020) and a College Lecturer in Law at the University of Oxford (2010-2015, holding weekend classes in EU law and administrative law at Lincoln, Oriel and Regent’s Park Colleges). In 2005-06 he spent a year on secondment as Judicial Assistant to the Appellate Committee to the House of Lords (the predecessor to the UK Supreme Court) and the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

Acted for the EA in its successful application for summary judgment.

Competition, State Aid & EU Law

Charles has considerable experience of competition law under Arts.101-106 TFEU and the Competition Act 1998. This includes:

- R (Heathrow Hub Ltd) v. Secretary of State for Transport [2020] EWCA Civ 213, concerning a claim that the Secretary of State's request that Heathrow Hub obtained a guarantee from Heathrow Airport Ltd that HAL would implement Hub's 'Extended Northern Runway' scheme for Heathrow expansion, if that scheme were selected ahead of HAL's 'North West Runway' scheme, meant that the subsequent Airports National Policy Statement, which endorsed the NWR scheme, was unlawful on competition law grounds. The issues included (i) whether the request for a guarantee breached Article 106 TFEU taken with Article 102 TFEU, on the basis that it was a 'state measure' with potential anti-competitive consequences, (ii) whether HAL had a dominant position in the relevant market (airport operation and associated services), and (iii) whether HAL had 'special or exclusive rights' so as to fall within the scope of Article 106.
- A substantial and vigorously contested Chancery Division claim between the Arora Group (which has 6 hotels and substantial land interests at London Heathrow Airport) and Heathrow Airport Ltd (the operator of Heathrow Airport) concerning real estate, planning and competition issues regarding Arora's proposed 9 storey multi storey passenger car park at Heathrow. The main issues are whether HAL is right to say that under Condition A85 of the planning permission for Heathrow Terminal 5, new passenger car parks at Heathrow Airport must be on specified HAL owned land or substituted land that HAL alone can notify to the London Borough of Hillingdon (the local planning authority) – and if so whether Condition A85 is a state measure with anti-competitive consequences contrary to Article 106 TFEU taken together with Article 4(3) TEU and/or Article 102 TFEU.
- Arora Management Services Ltd v. Heathrow Airport Ltd [2019] 5 C.M.L.R. 24 (Ch) – an interlocutory dispute in the above proceedings, concerning which division of the High Court is appropriate for determination of competition disputes between private parties.
- Advising the Secretary of State for Transport concerning competition issues relating to the provision of ground-handling services at a major UK airport.
- Regularly advising a well known firm in the automotive industry on competition law issues over a period of several years.
- Advising a sports professional on competition issues in the context of a dispute with his sporting association.
- Whilst on secondment as Judicial Assistant to the Law Lords, he worked on the seminal case of Crehan v. Inntrepreneur Pub Co. [2007] A.C. 333 regarding beer ties in pubs.

He also has considerable experience of advising both public and private sector clients on state aid issues. He has particular expertise on the provisions of the General Block Exemption Regulation relating to aid measures aimed at environmental protection and the Commission Guidelines on State Aid for the Environment, as well as state aid issues relating to the sale of land interests by public authorities to the private sector. He has recently advised on the state aid implications of the proposed financing of the redevelopment of a well known sports venue, of funding the remediation of a former mine, of central Government funding for a new relief road that will enable the development of a large scale urban extension, and of granting relief from the Community Infrastructure Levy to registered charities.

He has career-long experience of EU-derived law more generally, including 13 appearances in the EU Courts (CJEU and General Courts) on EU law issues as diverse as:

- Environmental Regulation (T-226/18 Global Silicones Council v. European Commission; Case C-528/16 Confédération Paysanne v. Premier Ministre; C-461/17 Holohan v. An Bord Pleanála);
- Economic Sanctions (T-715/14 NK Rosneft a.o. v. European Council; T-735/14 & T-799/15 Gazprom Neft v. European Council);
- Employees' rights (C-214/16 King v. The Sash Window Workshop Ltd [2018] 2 C.M.L.R. 10);
- Free Movement of Persons (C-507/12 St Prix; C-186/10 Oguz); and
- Refugee protection (C-490/16 AS v. Republic of Slovenia; C-150/15 N; C-542/13 M'Bodj v. État Belge; C-562/13 Abdida).

From 2017-2020 he was the UK Member of the EU Fundamental Rights Agency's Management Board (a Ministerial appointment by the Lord Chancellor and Secretary of State for Justice). He has published and lectured widely on EU law issues and was a College Lecturer in EU Law at Oxford University from 2010 to 2015, holding undergraduate classes at weekends (at Lincoln, Oriel and Regents Park Colleges).

He is recommended as a leading QC in EU law by Chambers & Partners UK Bar 2020 and Legal 500 UK Bar 2020 (having been recommended as a leading junior for many years previously). Comments in these directories include that he "has an incredibly detailed knowledge of EU law and shows real skill in applying it", is "extremely knowledgeable on EU law and equally passionate about its application", "is particularly adept at advising on cases involving questions of European law", "his recent work has demonstrated his ability to handle cases involving the interpretation of European legislation and the subsequent impact in areas such as social security and benefit rights" and that "he has been active in a range of EU matters of late, including cases concerning fundamental rights and environment issues."

“Very versatile, an excellent planning practice and also a very good EU and public lawyer.”

Charles’ practice covers a wide range of issues affecting the energy and natural resources sector, both within the UK and internationally, including planning & environmental regulation of new energy infrastructure, energy markets regulation, contractual disputes, international trade & investment law (including the Energy Charter Treaty), project finance and public procurement. He is recommended as a leading QC in Energy-related work by Legal 500 UK Bar 2020 (having previously been recommended as a leading junior in four consecutive editions since 2015).

European Council ELCI:EU:T:2018:548 – proceedings before the EU General Court in which the Russian energy companies Rosneft and Gazprom sought the annulment of EU sanctions targeted at the Russian oil sector in the light of Russia’s actions destabilising the situation in Ukraine. The issues included whether the sanctions were in breach of the EU’s obligations under GATT and GATS.

“He has outstanding intellect and charm. He is very good with clients and easy to work with. He is a very good example of a 21st century member of the Bar and is an exceptional, commercial barrister.”

Environmental Law

Charles undertakes a wide range of environmental litigation and advisory work in the domestic, EU and international law spheres. He is recommended as leading QC in environmental law by the latest editions of both Chambers & Partners UK Bar and Legal 500 UK Bar (having previously been recommended as a leading junior in this field by both directories for many years). His environmental law practice is evenly split between commercial clients, private clients, environmental NGOs and public authorities including the Environment Agency and the Northern Ireland Department for Infrastructure.

He has acted in some of the most important environmental cases in the English High Court and appellate courts in the 2000s, including the first Supreme Court case to consider the application of the Aarhus Convention within the UK (Edwards), the Supreme Court’s landmark judgment on strategic environmental assessment and environmental impact assessment in the context of a Parliamentary development consent process (HS2 Action Alliance No. 1), important Court of Appeal judgments on climate change (Plan B Earth concerning Heathrow Expansion), the scope of the ‘project’ for the purposes of environmental impact assessment (Larkfleet) and the distinction in EU law between ‘waste recovery’ and ‘waste disposal’ (Tarmac) as well as most of the other principal authorities on strategic environmental assessment (Save Historic Newmarket, Ashdown Forest, HS2 Action Alliance No. 2 and Larkfleet Homes). He has also acted in one of the most significant cases in the Northern Ireland High Court regarding Environmental Impact Assessment and habitats (Newry Chamber of Commerce).

Internationally, he has appeared on multiple occasions before the UNECE Aarhus Convention Compliance Committee in Geneva, in a series of cases before the CJEU regarding EU environmental legislation (including most recently a challenge by the silicones industry to the high profile ban on ‘microbeads’ in wash-off cosmetic products, as well as the groundbreaking Holohan case on habitats protection) and in the European Court of Human Rights in App. No. 39714/15 Austin v. UK (2017) 65 E.H.R.R. SE16 (concerning the circumstances in which Article 8 ECHR applies in cases of alleged environmental pollution and whether protection against adverse costs orders is required to achieve compliance with the right to an effective remedy under Article 13 ECHR).

He is the Editor of The Aarhus Convention – A Guide for UK Lawyers (Hart Publishing, 2015), the first book to be published concerning the implementation of the Aarhus Convention in the UK, and co-author of the chapter on strategic environmental assessment in Garner’s Environmental Law.

In 2017, Charles was awarded ‘Environment and Planning Junior of the Year’ at the Chambers UK Bar Awards. In the same year, he was shortlisted for ‘Real Estate, Environment and Planning Junior of the Year’ at the Legal 500 UK Bar Awards.

From 2016 until 2020 he was a Trustee and Council Member of the UK Environmental Law Association. In 2017, he was appointed by the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs as an independent member of the Joint Nature Conservation Committee, on which he continues to serve.

UK) raising the fundamental question of whether the application by the UK courts, in environmental judicial and statutory review proceedings of the Wednesbury standard of review is consistent with Article 9(2) of the Aarhus Convention in relation to the review of the substantive legality of certain environmental decisions, acts and omissions.
- Advising DEFRA, DECC and the Ministry of Justice on Aarhus Convention compliance in the light of recent Compliance Committee and CJEU findings about the costs regime in environmental judicial review proceedings in the UK.

Environmental Cases Before the EU courts

- Case T-226/18 Global Silicones Council & others v. European Commission (awaiting a hearing before the EU General Court): application to the General Court to annul Commission Regulation (EU) 2018/35 which introduces an EU-wide ban, effective 31st January 2020, on silicone ‘microbeads’ in wash-off cosmetic products, due to their polluting effect on river and marine ecosystems.

One of the lead domestic authorities on the scope of the ‘project’ for the purposes of EIA and the approach to be taken to assessing in-combination effects.

Infrastructure & Utilities

Charles has considerable experience of providing advice and representation in relation to large-scale infrastructure projects in a range of legal contexts, both within the UK and internationally, including the development consent order ('DCO') process, environmental regulation and other regulatory issues, contractual disputes, project finance, public procurement. He has particular experience of infrastructure work in the transport, energy and natural resources sectors.

The breadth of his practice means he is unusually well placed to assist clients over the lifetime of their project, from environmental and planning consenting, to public procurement, regulatory and project finance issues, to commercial disputes arising during or after the construction of the project.

His experience includes being integrally involved in proceedings relating to arguably the three most significant infrastructure projects in the UK in recent years: High Speed 2 ('HS2'), the proposed 3rd runway and associated expansion at London Heathrow Airport, and the North-South Ireland Electricity Interconnector.

In Planning Magazine's Planning Law Survey 2020 he was ranked in the top 7 of all QCs at the Bar of England & Wales practising in the field of infrastructure (after just one year in silk).

He is a member of the UK National Infrastructure Planning Association.

Significant infrastructure work includes the following:

Transport Infrastructure

- High Speed Two: acted for HS2 Action Alliance and affected landowners in the Parliamentary Select Committee proceedings established to consider objections to the proposed route and details of Phase 1 of HS2; prior to that, appeared in the high profile and long running litigation relating to HS2 including two Supreme Court proceedings and acting for HS2 Action Alliance in the Supreme Court in their challenge to the Government's strategy for HS2 (see R (HS2 Action Alliance Ltd) v. Secretary of State for Transport and R (Heathrow Hub Ltd) v. Secretary of State for Transport [2014] 1 W.L.R. 324) proceedings before the UNECE Aarhus Convention Compliance Committee in Geneva (Communication ACCC/C/2014/100).
- London Heathrow Airport 3rd Runway and associated expansion: acting since 2015 for the Arora Group, one of the principal landowners at and around Heathrow Airport and the promoter of the 'Heathrow West' proposal pursuant to which, as part of the North-West Runway scheme supported by the Airports National Policy Statement, it seeks to construct and operate a new terminal at Heathrow in competition with the existing terminals operated by Heathrow Airport Limited.

Planning

Charles is widely recognised as one of the UK’s most effective and influential planning QCs. He is ranked as one of the country’s Top 4 planning silks in Planning Magazine’s Planning Law Survey 2021 (based upon a poll of several hundred development & infrastructure industry professionals), as well as being recommended as a leading planning silk in Legal 500 UK Bar 2020 and Chambers UK Bar 2021. Prior to taking silk, he was unanimously rated as the No.1 planning junior in all three publications. Commentary in the directories includes: “a real jewel in the planning Bar crown”, “tremendously respected”, “a match for any silk” and “one of the best court advocates I’ve seen”.

He was awarded ‘UK Planning Barrister of the Year’ at the Lawyer Monthly Legal Awards in 2018 and ‘Environment and Planning Junior of the Year’ at the Chambers UK Bar Awards in 2017. He was also shortlisted for ‘Real Estate, Environment and Planning Junior of the Year’ at the Legal 500 UK Bar Awards in 2017. He is a Committee Member of the Planning and Environment Bar Association, elected by fellow members of the planning bar.

He is the creator and co-presenter of the high profile cross-chambers planning themed weekly discussion show, ‘Have We Got Planning News For You’, featuring guest appearances from some of the UK’s most well known figures in planning, architecture and government (including the Planning Minister and the Archbishop of Canterbury), which has had over 100,000 views and was nominated for ‘Best Use of Social Media’ at the Legal Cheek Awards 2021.

Public Procurement

Charles has substantial experience of both advisory and contentious public procurement work in both England & Wales and Northern Ireland. He is recommended as a leading QC in public procurement by Legal 500 UK Bar 2020 (having been recommended in a succession of previous editions as a leading junior), which comments that he is “very good at sorting the wheat from the chaff” and has “amassed considerable experience” in this field. His clients have included contracting authorities, contractors and potential challengers. He is an active member of the Procurement Lawyers’ Association.

Much of his public procurement work has been in the context of regeneration projects and development agreements. This has included the two leading cases on the circumstances in which such agreements trigger the need for procurement: most recently, he acted for the successful appellant in the ground-breaking case of R (Faraday Development Limited) v. West Berkshire Council [2019] P.T.S.R. 1346 in which, in addition to holding that a development agreement structured around an option to purchase the land in question was a public works contract requiring procurement, the Court of Appeal made the first ever declaration of ineffectiveness by an English court as well as imposing a civil financial penalty; prior to that, he acted for the successful defendant authority in R (Midlands Co-Operative) v. Birmingham City Council [2012] Eu L.R. 640 (defending a challenge to a development agreement for a retail-led regeneration scheme in Stirchley). He has advised on similar issues in the contexts of (amongst other things) the expansion of a world famous football stadium, the relocation of a municipal sports facility, retail-led regeneration proposals, and the construction of extensions to a well known London Underground station (project costs in excess of £100m). He has also lectured and published extensively on this subject, including an influential article cited in Prof. Sue Arrowsmith's leading book Law of Public and Utilities Procurement.

His practice also includes procurement issues more broadly. His experience includes:

- Advising the Cabinet Office on public procurement issues relating to the outsourced administration of civil service pensions (2019-2020).
- Litigation in the High Court of Northern Ireland in which the applicant contended that the award of Northern Ireland's most significant waste disposal contract was in breach of public procurement law (2019, settled).
- R (Wylde) v. Waverley Borough Council [2017] P.T.S.R. 1245 – on the extent to which persons other than 'economic operators' as defined in the Public Contracts Regulations have standing to bring a judicial claim alleging that a contracting authority has breached the Regulations.

the other side can throw at him.”

Regulatory & Public Law and Human Rights

Charles is recommended as a leading QC in administrative & public law in the latest editions of both Legal 500 UK Bar and Chambers & Partners UK Bar (having been ranked as a leading junior in both directories for many years previously). He is also recommended as a leading QC in local government law in Chambers & Partners UK Bar (2021). He has considerable experience across the whole spectrum of public law, including all aspects of central and local government, constitutional issues, freedom of information, immigration, community care, healthcare, mental health, prisons, public procurement, regulation, social security and transport.

He has worked on numerous cases before the Administrative Court in England & Wales and before the Judicial Review Court in Northern Ireland. His well-known appellate practice includes some of the leading public law appeals of the 2000s before the Supreme Court (where he has appeared 16 times) concerning issues such as the territorial application of UK Acts of Parliament (Al-Skeini), the circumstances in which the High Court's judicial review jurisdiction can be restricted by legislation or judicial policy (Cart) and the Court's jurisdiction to review the Parliamentary procedure for Hybrid Bills for compatibility with EU law (HS2).

Prior to taking silk, he was a member of the Attorney General's A Panel of Junior Counsel to the Crown. He was also member of the Treasury Solicitor's Freedom of Information Panel until its incorporation within the Attorney General's main panels. For many years he was a contributor to the Administrative Court Digest and on the editorial team of the 'International Developments' section of the journal Public Law. He has published and spoken widely on court systems and the judiciary, and has given expert evidence on the issue to the House of Lords Constitution Committee.

His recent leading public law cases include:

- Appeared for the UK Government before the UNECE Aarhus Convention Compliance

Committee in RSPB, Friends of the Earth and Leigh Day v. Northern Ireland

Charles was called to the Bar of Northern Ireland in 2010 and regularly provides advice and representation on matters within or relating to Northern Ireland, particularly in relation to planning and public procurement.

His most significant work in Northern Ireland includes the following:

High Court Cases

- River Ridge Recycling (Portadown) Ltd v. Arc 21 (settled), a claim under the Public Contracts Regulations 2015 alleging that the award of Northern Ireland's most significant waste disposal contract was in breach of public procurement law.
- Safe Electricity Armagh and Tyrone Ltd's application for Judicial Review [2018] NIQB: challenge to the Department for Infrastructure's grant of planning permission for the Northern Ireland element of the North-South Ireland Electricity Interconnector, the most substantial energy infrastructure project in Northern Ireland in the modern era. The grounds include alleged breaches of EU environmental law and that the Department's Permanent Secretary did not have vires to issue the decision whilst there remained no ministers in Northern Ireland due to the collapse of the power sharing government. The latter point is of profound constitutional and practical importance in Northern Ireland.
- Buttercrane Centre Limited's Application for Judicial Review [2017] NIQB: challenge to planning permission for the extension of The Quays retail centre in Newry, concerning the compatibility with Article 6 ECHR of the 'promptness' requirement for JR.
- Kelvin Properties Limited's Application for Judicial Review [2016] NIQB: challenge to the Planning Appeal Commission's refusal of planning permission for a retail development in Coleraine (settled following leave hearing).
- Darren Crowe's Application for Judicial Review [2016] NIQB: challenge to the Planning Appeal Commission's refusal of planning permission for an onshore wind turbine development on the grounds of potential impact on species protected under the EU Habitats Directive (settled following leave hearing).
- Newry Chamber of Commerce's Application for Judicial Review [2015] NIQB 65: challenge to planning permission for a large scale retail-led redevelopment, raising issues under the Habitats Directive, EIA Directive and the Northern Ireland Act 1998.

- Doyle's Application for Judicial Review [2014] NIQB 82: challenge to the Planning Appeal Commission's grant of permission for a key element of the University of Ulster's £300m regeneration scheme in North Belfast, concerning standing for JR in the planning context.
- Department of Environment's Application for Judicial Review [2014] NIQB 4: challenge to Planning Appeal Commission's grant of permission for a large-scale airport car-park in the countryside, concerning the relationship between the different applicable Planning Policy Statements.

Planning Inquiries and Planning Appeal Hearings

- Appearing for the Department for Infrastructure at the two-stage public inquiry into the Northern Ireland element of the proposed North-South Ireland Electricity Interconnector, Northern Ireland's largest infrastructure project in recent years.
- Acting for Derry and Strabane District Council at an inquiry into a proposed 1,400 dwelling urban extension on the edge of Derry City.
- Several planning appeal hearings concerning appeals against enforcement notices served on operators of unauthorised airport car parks in the open countryside near Belfast International airport.

Advisory Work

- Advising the Arc 21 consortium on constitutional and planning law issues relating to the redetermination of its application for a strategic Energy From Waste facility the permission for which was quashed by the Northern Ireland Court of Appeal in Buick's Application for Judicial Review [2018] NICA 26 on the basis that it had been outside the powers of the Permanent Secretary of the Department for Infrastructure to issue the permission in the absence of Ministerial Government.
- Advising the UK Government on the EU law and international trade law implications of Brexit for the all-Ireland Single Electricity Market.
- Advising the Department of Culture, Arts and Leisure on proposed restrictions to salmon fishing in the River Foyle on EU habitats grounds.
- Advising local planning authorities on planning applications for onshore wind turbine developments.

Additional Information

As well as spending time with his young family, Charles enjoys running, travel, theatre, contemporary art and rock music. He has run 9 London Marathons and has climbed two of the Seven Summits (parenthood then got in the way of the rest). He skis badly but enthusiastically, much like his guitar playing.
